

Benefits and Privileges: APM - 759 - Leaves of Absence/Other Leaves Without Pay759-0 Policy

In addition to the special types of leaves listed in APM - 700 through 752, leaves of absence without pay for other good cause may be granted to academic appointees.¹ Good cause in this section may, in appropriate circumstances, include, but is not limited to, leaves for: service to non-profit/non-governmental organizations, innovation and entrepreneurship activities, a visiting appointment at another institution, professional development, or medical reasons under APM - 710, Leaves of Absence/Paid Sick Leave/Medical Leave, when an appointee's paid leave has been exhausted. When a request for a leave without pay involves service or activities with an entity or organization outside the University, the request may be approved when the purpose for the leave is one that will enhance the academic appointee's contributions to the University after completion of the leave.

Academic appointees on an approved leave of absence without pay under APM - 759 remain University employees and must continue to comply with University policies on conflict of commitment and outside activities. General campus academic appointees are subject to APM - 025, Conflict of Commitment and Outside Activities of Faculty Members. Faculty participating in the Health Sciences Compensation Plan (HSCP) are subject to APM - 671, Conflict of Commitment and Outside Activities of Health Sciences Compensation Plan Participants, and local HSCP School Implementing Procedures which specify whether and under what conditions such leaves are permissible. In addition to complying with University policies on conflict of commitment and outside activities, academic appointees on an approved leave of absence without pay must also comply with all University policies involving University intellectual property, conflict of interest, and the use of University resources. See Appendix A for a list of other relevant University policies.

759-12 Leaves of Absence Without Pay for More Than One Year

Except as may otherwise be required by law, a leave of absence without pay under APM - 759 shall not exceed one year in length and shall generally not extend beyond June 30 of the academic year in which the leave is granted. However, in the interests of the University and/or as may be required by law, such a leave may be renewed in increments of one year or less (but not indefinitely) as outlined in this section. The approval process for such a leave shall take into consideration the impact of the leave on the teaching, research, and service obligations of a department.

¹ For discussion about leaves provided as a reasonable accommodation for a disability, see APM - 711, Reasonable Accommodation for Academic Appointees with Disabilities. For discussion about possible initiation of a medical separation review if an academic appointee is unable to return to work and/or perform the essential functions of the academic position after an interactive process has been exhausted, see APM - 080, Medical Separation.

a. Faculty holding tenure or security of employment

Leaves without pay for more than one year under APM - 759 are normally granted only to faculty holding tenure or security of employment.

b. Other academic appointees

In exceptional cases, department chairs may recommend academic appointees other than faculty holding tenure or security of employment for leave without pay for more than one year under APM - 759 when it is certain that the department wishes to retain the appointee's services after completion of the leave, and the purpose of the leave is one that will enhance the appointee's contributions to the University. In such cases, no assurance may be given, either directly or by implication, that the appointee will be retained beyond the period of service normally applicable to the appointee's rank, or that the appointee will be promoted when that period is over. Reappointment at the termination of leave is dependent upon availability of funds.

759-21 Temporary Coverage of Work During Leave

If temporary support is necessary to complete work during the period of leave, the person(s) temporarily employed to perform that work shall be notified in writing by the department chair that the appointment is limited to the period for which leave has been granted to the academic appointee. If the person temporarily employed to perform this work is an exclusively represented academic appointee, the department should refer to the terms of the applicable Memorandum of Understanding.

759-24 Authority

Chancellors and the Vice President-Agriculture and Natural Resources are authorized to approve all leaves of absence without pay for appointees under their respective jurisdictions, subject to the provisions of APM - 759-0.
